"Challenge" and "rewarding" are the words with which the PADI Rescue Diver course is often described. Not only is this scuba diving course challenging, but it is also known as the course that teaches you most, is the best of fun and extremely enjoyable.

The PADI Rescue Diver course is the course that many divers defined as the best course they ever attended.

PADI Rescue Diver Program

What you will learn during your PADI Rescue Diver course:

- How to act on underwater emergencies by learning self-rescue;
- Recognition and management of stress in other divers;
- Equipment check-up;
- Emergency management;
- Rescue divers in panic on the surface and underwater;
- Rescue divers in an unconscious state on the surface and under water;
- Search and recovery of a missing diver.

The PADI Rescue Diver course is divided into two main parts:

1. Knowledge development (online with individual study or in the classroom), to understand the basic principles of underwater rescue;
2. Practical sessions in the water with 9 exercises for managing underwater emergencies and 2 scenarios.

PADI Rescue Diver Equipment

The equipment needed specifically for the PADI Rescue Diver course (i.e. buoys, emergency oxygen kit) is included in the course. Other diving equipment can be rented at our Dive Center.

PADI Rescue Diver Prerequisites

- PADI (Junior) Adventure Diver who completed the underwater adventure navigation dive (or have an equivalent certification issued by another training organization);
- A valid Primary and Secondary Care EFR rescue training certificate issued within the previous two years;
- Having turned 12 years old.

Credit/Certification PADI Rescue Diver

If you successfully complete your PADI Rescue Diver course you will receive your PADI

Rescue Diver certificate. The PADI Rescue Diver certification is a requirement to become a PADI Master Scuba Diver and participate in the Divemaster course.
